GIRLISH WAYS.

The supercilious state of society at the present time induces thoughtful parents to wish for a family of boys rather than girls. The affected and ridiculously superficial manners of the feminine sex, from the little school miss to the young lady who has slipped over her teens into maturity is painfully apparent just now, when the conduct of the women of a century ago is vividly recalled, and their common sense and fine characteristics shine out in contrast. American society is undoubtedly undergoing fermentation. The seam and the specks and impurities which arise from the great cosmopolitan mixture have to settle and become classified before we can have a substantial and aristocratic circle, above the follies which now belittle it. Since the introduction of the "Grecian bend" by a fashionable belle of this city, a series of contortions have followed which have surpassed it in absurdity. The bending of the body as if cramped by sciatica or stomach-ache, became so fashionable that it ceased to occasion remark. The hanging of the hands a la crocodile was next the rage, and was well caricatured by servant-maids, when horsey knuckled hands in cheap gloves swung loosely about public conveyances on "days out." The salute has been the last to suffer outlandish manipulation, until now the graceful inclination of the head is seen no more. A wriggle of the chin upward and outward with a spasm of the mouth at the same instant as if some hidden pally like the jumping-jack's were suddenly twitched, is now the only mode of recognition endurable in high-toned circles. One can witness these absurd contortions if in good humor, and laugh behind his sleeve; but at times these exhibitions are exasperating. We look for so much from girls. We expect ingenueness, the deepening blush, shyness—even to awkwardness—a certain air. Occasionally we do encounter these delightful attributes by the wayside or in the horse cars, when a miss with school books in arms will rise and give her seat to gray hairs, a waif and a thread-worm looking ring, and will then blush crimson and nod as if she had committed a crime. Our boys may be grimy handed and wear holes in their knees—they may limp and draw and go slowly through the age of pappism. We can bear that. But the girls, the little school girls, the misses with crimped hair and ribbons, the young ladies, and the women indeed, let them be natural and unaffected.—N. Y. Com.

AN ACCOMMODATING EDITOR.—A local editor in Pekin, Ill., introduced himself to the public a few days ago as follows: "Sensational, distressing details of revolting murders and shocking suicides, respectfully solicited. Bible case presentations and ministerial donation parties will be 'done' with promptness and dispatch. Keno banks and their operations made a specialty. Accurate reports of Sunday-school anniversaries guaranteed. The local will cheerfully walk seventeen miles after Sunday-school to see and report a prize fight. Funerals and all other melancholy occasions written up in a manner to challenge admiration. Horse races reported in the highest style of the reportorial art. Domestic broils and conjugal infidelities sought for with untiring avidity. Police court proceedings and sermons reported in a manner well calculated to astonish the prisoner, magistrate and preacher. Prompt paying subscribers and good advertisers, when stricken with mortal illness, will be cheerfully interviewed, when lying at death's door, with a view to obtaining obituary items, and the greatest pleasure will be taken in exposing your private affairs to the critical gaze of an interested public."

The Russian punch must be a nice drink. It is made of a mixture of vodka, champagne, uawka (which is defined as a kind of gooseberry wine resembling the French casis, which is much affected by the Russians) and any other kind of wine that may be put in. Apples, melons, and cucumbers and the whole is then ignited and allowed to burn till it boils. Sensible people who should see such a drink as this and become acquainted with its preparation, would know what to do with it without any hesitation. But there are some remarkable individuals who think it proves nothing to have other people experiment with such a compound; they may try it for themselves. It looks as if Mr. MacGahan had felt called upon to allow the mixture to work on his own constitution, for he says: "Though palatable and insinuating, it is the most diabolical compound I have ever tasted. Every drop of it is laden with headache for a week and dyspepsia for a fortnight."

ANOTHER BIOGRAPHY OF GEN. LEE.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Herald says: "Under the title of 'Un Vaincu,' the firm of Hetzel publishes a biography of the Confederate chief, proceeding from the pen of Mme. Boissas. The book is readable, and written with a warmth of partisanship which leaves no doubt of the sincerity of the author's admiration for the soldier whose history she relates. The republican press in France has accorded a favorable reception to this biography. Mme. Boissas having labored to prove that at the time of the civil war Lee was not fighting for slavery, but drew his sword on the rebel side because he considered that his duties toward the State of Virginia, and that he was a citizen, had a higher claim on him. At the close of the work the author tells how Robert E. Lee, after the defeat of the South, became the director of a college."

WOOL.—Col. S. S. Bradford's flock of 350 Merinos yielded him, this season, 2740 pounds (net) of unwashed wool, which he recently shipped to New York for sale. This is an average of about eight pounds to the sheep, lambs and all included.

And last week Mr. Frank Stearns, of this county, shipped a car load of lambs to New York, which netted him $6 apiece. Now, who will say that raising sheep does not pay?

The American flag which waved over Fort McHenry, at Baltimore, during the British bombardment of 1814, and suggested the well-known "Star-spangled Banner" poem, is in the possession of Mrs. Appleton, of New York, who is a daughter of General Armstrong, the defender of the fort.

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
Macon, Ga., and Philadelphia.

The symptoms of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general constipated, sometimes alternating with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaint of weakness, debility, and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the liver is generally the organ most involved.

Nearly all diseases originate from Indigestion and Torpidity of the Liver, and relief is always anxiously sought after. If the Liver is regularly in its action, health is almost invariably secured. Want of action in the Liver causes Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Chills, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, bilious attacks, palpitation of the heart, depression of spirits, or the blues, and a hundred other symptoms, for which SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is the best remedy that has ever been discovered. It acts immediately, and being a simple vegetable compound, can do no injury in any quantities that it may be taken. It is harmless in every way; it has been used for 40 years, and hundreds of the good and great from all parts of the country will vouch for its being the purest and best.

The Clergy.

"My wife and self have used the Regulator for years, and testify to its great virtues."—Rev. J. R. Felder, Perry, Ga.

Ladies' Endorsement.

"I have given your medicine a thorough trial, and in no case has it failed to give full satisfaction."—Ellen Meacham, Chattahoochee, Fla.
